

YOU CAN DO IT

Whenever things you plan to do
Appear impossible to you,
When there's an awful lot at stake
And there are risks you have to take,
Well, here's a little bit of help:
Keep believing in yourself
And you can do it.
You can do it.

Especially when things are new
And the familiar things you do
Appear to have you in their hold,
Well, you can change them if you're bold.
Forget the doubt that's in your mind,
I can assure you that you'll find
That you can do it.
You can do it.

BRIDGE

There may be mole-hills, may be mountains,
You may have no choice but to climb.
So just kick off that hesitation,
'Cos here's the place and now's the time.
And you can do it.
You can do it.

You may have paths you wish to tread.
You may have skins you wish to shed.
You may be diving for a pearl.
You may set out to change the world.
Well, at the price of losing face
There is a bet I'd like to place
That you can do it.
You can do it.
