

TEN TODAY

Tommy is ten today, was born a decade ago,
Now looks at his ten fingers, looks at his ten toes.
Looks at the birthday card from Auntie Jeanette in Belgium,
Sending him all her love and a ten-euro note.
Tommy just smiles (pling)
Well now - (pling) he has

CHORUS

10 Euros in his pocket, 10 years to look back on,
10 fingers he can play with, 10 toes he can twiddle.
Hey, this is fun to turn ten!

Topping the birthday cake are naturally ten candles.
Granny's got ten roses just for the birthday boy. (Then)
Tommy receives a phone call from Uncle Joe in Cornwall,
Singing an old favourite: "10 green bottles!"
Tommy just smiles (pling).
Well now (pling) He has

CHORUS:

10 candles on the icing. 10 roses on the table.
"10 green bottles!" 10 Euros in his pocket, 10 years to look back on,
10 fingers he can play with, 10 toes he can twiddle.
Hey, this is fun to turn ten!

Tommy adores chocolate, so Mrs. Brown the neighbour
Greets him with ten bars of ten different sorts.
Ten of his best friends now come to the birthday party,
Each with a joke to tell - well, that'll be quite a laugh.

BRIDGE

The guests have long gone
And the clock's striking ten.
Tommy just smiles:

CHORUS

10 bars of tasty chocolate, 10 friends at the party. 10 jokes had them laughing.
10 candles on the icing. 10 roses on the table. "10 green bottles".
10 Euros in his pocket, 10 years to look back on,
10 fingers he can play with, 10 toes he can twiddle.
Hey, this is fun to turn ten!
